

Call for Applications Doctoral Consortium on Emerging Markets

The 6th Rice Strategy Symposium on Emerging Markets (RSSEM) will be hosted by the Strategy and Environment Group at the Jesse H. Jones Graduate School of Business, Rice University in Houston on May 5-6, 2016. The purpose of this symposium is to invite a small group of distinguished and active strategy scholars from different schools to share their research on some critical strategy issues related to emerging markets (For last year's program, see <http://business.rice.edu/strategysymposium/>).

The 2016 RSSEM is going to have the Doctoral Consortium on Emerging Markets which will be held on Thursday, May 5, 2016. The Doctoral Consortium is intended for PhD students who are doing dissertations on strategic issues of emerging markets and it aims to provide participating students with an opportunity to discuss their papers in small groups with distinguished faculty and peers. There will also be a panel discussion on career management issues. Participating students will be invited to stay for the rest of the Symposium.

Application Deadline

Interested students should apply no later than February 15, 2016. All applicants will be notified of admission decisions by the end of March 2016. For admitted students, the Jones Graduate School will cover their travel and lodging expenses including travel support (up to $300) and three-night hotel stay (double occupancy).
